To Be General Chairman for the Community Service This Year

PROGRAM AT HIGH

Elaborate Preparations for Tree and Tableaux

Plans for the Community Christmas celebration in Glendale were pushed ahead materially at a meeting Friday afternoon at the Chamber of Commerce which was attended by the special committee appointed at the general meeting on Thursday night with the committee from the Glendale Community Service. Those present were Captain Thomas D. Watson, who presided as temporary chairman; R. D. White, V. M. Hollister, Herman Nelson, Harry James and Mrs. E. S. McKee. The music commit-tee of Community Service appointed for the Christmas caroling, consisting of Mrs. Dora Gilbson, Mrs. W. Q. Widdows, Mrs. Harry Mc-Mullin and Miss E. Brenneman, was also present.

Upon unanimous vote of the meeting Colonel James W. Everington was selected as general chairman of the Christmas celebration. The following chairmen of special committees were appointed: Speakers' bureau. Normal C. Hayhurst; publicity, H. F. Benner; supplies, David Black; decorations, L. W. Chobe; finance, C. W. Ingledue. Harry Girard was appointed stage manager for the program of tableaux. Mrs. W. Q. Widdows is chairman of program committee.

Mrs. C. W. Angier, representing the residents of La Crescenta and Montrose, was present and requested the cooperation of the committee in a Christmas tree celebration which the people of these committees are committeed. munities are to stage on Tuesday night. December 19. It was decided that the Glen-Angier and her committee in the program to be put on for this event.

It was definitely decided that the location of the Glendale Christmas tree and program should be upon the grounds immediately in front of the high school. Elaborate preparations are being made e decoration of the tree and for the staging of a number tableaux illustrating some of eaux illustrating some of the ditional Christmas carols which re to be sung by various groups in the community.

EAGLE GLEN HEIGHTS CREDITS GLENDALE PRESS WITH SUCCESSFUL SALES

Thomas D. Watson, Esq., Manager Glendale Press, Glendale, California.

My Dear Mr. Watson: Now that the closing days of the advertising campaign for the sale of home-sites at Eagle Glen Heights, on East Broadway, have been reached, I wish to express my gratification at the results attained through the use of space in your newspaper. Only through advertising in the Glendale papers, I am convinced, could this property have been disposed of so rapidly and so satisfactorily.

I have always been a believer in the high value of Glendale real estate, ever since I first developed and disposed of a residential tract on Central avenue some fifteen years ago. And I am glad to find that Glendale people share this belief—proved by the fact that practically every lot at Eagle Glen Heights has been bought by a Glendale resident.

Wishing you every success, and with thanks for the cordial co-operation given by your paper, I am

EDITOR FOR TODAY

This edition will be the last of the series which has appear ed on this page during this last week and which has entirely been in the hands of the students of the high school journalism class with the aid deen, the latter contributing stories to be printed.

This opportunity is given to the students to show their ability and to give to the people of America the thoughts and feelings of their own children in regard to education and Americanization. Let us not cast the spirit of this great week aside, but let us all join in step-large or small, rich or poorand carry in our hearts and minds with greatest responsibility and reverence the morals which this page has opened to our eyes, remembering the six mottoes given on this page during the week:

1—Americans All by 1927, 2—Patriotism is the basis of a happy nation.

3-Let every citizen adopt and teach an illiterate to read and write.

4-A sick boy makes a sick mind; playgrounds in every community; athletes all. 5 Better trained and better paid teachers; more adequate

By THOMAS McCLELLAN, '23

Probably never in the history of our nation has the concern for the education of American boys and girls been so evident as it is at the present time. Wide-awake American citizens are taking definite steps so that all may receive an equal opportunity for an education.

This problem is one for all thinking men and women, regardless of occupation. It is to the interest of wealthy industrial states to promote education in backward states and thus make better markets for their goods. and it is essential for the safety and welfare of the nation as a whole that there shall be no weak spots in its civic armor.

That our nation is taking this important step in developing the principle upon which our forefathers founded it—that of equal rights and equal opportunities to all is of important consequence.

By improving the teaching in the elementary grades the mass of children, for the greater part of whom school opportunities will not extend beyond the high school, will be helped. Moreover, the colleges and universities will become much more efficient, because of the better preparation given in the schools.

It was our great statesman, Abraham Lincoln, who said, "To all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life." Is this great principle guiding our nation in the education of its children?

Statistics show that: "Five million persons ten years of age and over cannot read or write any language; 3,000,000 cannot read or write the basic language of the country. One-third of the men examined for military service were disqualified by reason of physical defects, 90% per cent of which could have been prevented by a knowledge of simple health rules. Three hundred thousand out of 700,000 public school teachers have no professional training whatever; 200,000 have less than high school education and 30,000 have no education beyond the eighth grade."

Could America, then, possibly believe that all American children are receiving an equal opportunity for an

America has made marvelous progress in the last quarter of a century in its professional schools, colleges, universities, high schools, and city grade schools, yet the old type of rural school remains almost unchanged. The facilities of these schools are about as crude as one-half a century ago. No part of our educational system is so important as the school where the farmer is prepared for his duties—for he produces the life of our country.

Do all American boys and girls receive equal opportunity for education when the rural child is taught in a poor one-room schoolhouse by a poorly trained, inexperienced, under-paid girl who teaches all grades with almost no supervision-while to this inexperienced country teacher is given the most difficult task in education that of teaching the entire range of elementary subjects to small, unclassified groups; and at the same time, city children attend in a comfortable, sanitary and well lighted building—taught by well trained and carefully supervised teachers—accurately graded and given every facility that modern progress has produced?

Surely we should give the country boy and girl opportunities in schooling equal to those of the city, in order that our native and foreign-born children may both properly fit themselves for the business of life and may help in working out our national ideals intelligently. Good rural schools will lead more desirable families to the country towns and will tend to check the great migration of families to cities.

It is time that radical changes are made in equalizing educational opportunities, for this democracy depends for its very life and progress upon a strong, healthy and intelligent citizenship, capable of understanding, defending and perpetuating our American in-stitutions.

of the children. The boys learned at home how to 'read and write, and the giss how to sew, but there were no schools. The men were too busy making homes and providing food for their families to think of the matter.

But in the hearts of our fore-thers was a deep-sented reverence to meet a school, but what a difference. They have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have 'responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have been trained in personal deanliness, and many have responded to the training, they have a fair idea of the land in which they live.

EDUCATION IS GREATEST ASSET

By Helen Wray, Age 14 Years; Grade A-8; Glendale Ave. Int. Education promotes ambition by causing us to exercise our brains. It lengthens our lives because of the knowledge of the laws of nature we acquire. It makes us bet-ter citizens because we know the history of our country and the ideals for which it stands. It enables us to advance ourselves in a material way by being the one sure road to business or professional Education builds cities, railroads and fleets of ships. It furnishes us fuel and light and communication. It wins wars and has conquered the air. Education is the very life. The blood of our existence and its absence would cause the human race to revert to barbarism.

That city, that state, or that country which fosters education most will always be found the most prosperous and happy. Education that is free to all its people has advanced our country to the leadership of the world, and lack of it has kept older civilizations than ours on practically the same plane they occupied hundreds of years ago. It may be said, then, that an education is our first and greatest asset, and the happiness and welfare of our country are dependent

They drifted down the stream and cast their lines in the lake. Then they waited till they caught a fish which was so small it peeved them. In about two hours they were about ready to go home, they were so discouraged. All at once the boat gave a sudden jerk and upset them both. Before they could recover their senses they were about a hundred yards from the shore and going through the water denly the boat stopped, and Bob started to pull in the fish, but no on the rope than they were off through the water again.

Freightened, Dick yelled for Bob pockets, but found no knife. The boat was shipping water so rapidly. it was now half full, and they couldn't bail it out fast enough to keep it afloat. Suddenly the rope broke and the boat stopped. "Whew, some ride," said Bob. "You said it." replied Dick. Bob reached for the oars, but they had fallen

Finally the boat started to drift in with the tide. "Slow, but sure," said Bob. They were two tired and hungry boys who stopped at Captain Green's that night to return the boat.

RED ROCK CANYON

The canyon is very narrow, with cliffs of rock on both sides which were formed in different shapes, hundreds of years ago by a volcano which from a distance made the rocks look like hidden villages, castles of olden times, people, boats and many other things. There is a little stream running down the center of the canyon and as you walk along beside it you can find many pretty stones such as the desert moonstone, red and green jasper and many others of no value. There is very little growing in the canyon except the purple sage and the desert holly, which is very pretty in winter, as it has white leaves with little red berries on it.

Today, the art of journalism ranks among the foremost of the approved methods of training indiiduals to meet life and work. This might seem to the casual reader a rather sweeping statement. Indeed such a remark, if made one hunsuch a remark, if made one hundred years ago, would have been exaggerated, untrue, for the profession at that time had not yet reached its high point of efficiency and value. This modern world is continually calling for people whose minds are receptive, eyes wide open, and hands capable and efficient, and it is from the army of journalists that a huge number

For the -timeliness and accuracy. For the student there is no greater aid to abolishing that worst of evils—procrastination, than that first demand of the newspaper world—"on time!" The second essential, when conquered by a writer for any periodical, becomes a virtue which becomes a protecting cloak of truth that shields the wearer from many hard blows in the work-

It is impossible to name anyone in the impossible to name anyone in the whole newspaper machine who does not take orders. Every person is directed by some one or something just above him. The editor himself is guided by the opinions and sentiments of those whom he serves.

By GLADYS HOPNER, '23

Just what the public school really does for the immigrant is a question that can best be answered by illustration and explanation. Let us go to any big port where immigrants are landed, note the type of foreigner entering and the small fund of knowledge possessed ac-cording to our standards. Let us leave him in the foreign district of a large city for five years and then return to see what transformation has taken place.

The ignorant foreigner has dissooner did the fish feel the tug appeared. In his place we find a on the rope than they were off person of increased intelligence, who speaks our language fairly well, understands our government, to cut the rope. Bob searched his and is striving to live up to our ideals. By what agency has this transformation taken place? In tracing it to its source we discover that the greatest factor has been the public schools. You may ask just how the public school has wrought this transformation. In answer, allow me to illustrate. Let us take a young immigrant entering our public schools. He is placed in the best environment, under the best possible supervision. Here he finds all the advntages necessary to make him a good citi-

Let us consider a few of the ad vantages enjoyed by the immigrant child during his school life. Upon entrance he is put on an equal footing with all the other students. His chances of making a success are as large as those of his classmates. He has free use of all the equipment furnished, such as books, apparatus and other material necessary in the pursuit of a study. He has the benefit of the experience and resourcefulness of his classmates, and, lastly, he is given a vocational training to fit him for his life's work. In fact, the immigrant child in our public schools enjolys all that is necessary to make him mentally, merally and physically the ideal citizen. For the benefit of the older immigrant, night schools have been established. In these schools the foreigner receives a larger vision of his possibilities as an American citizen. He begins to realize what America really means and what it is doing for him. In Europe, especially in monarchial countries, he was crushed, his personality was not allowed to be expressed. Education was not for him, but only for the well-to-do. Here in America he breathes the air of freedom, he grows, expands and becomes conscious of his own power. All this is possible through the generosity of the American people in providing for his education. In conclusion, I will say that, though there are a few who do not take advantage of our schools, the majority of immigrants realize and apreciate the great blessing afforded them by the American people. In our public schools are taught the honor and ideals of our government. If we wish this government to be controlled by intelligent citizens, it behooves us to continue our educational policy in behalf of our foreign brother, who comes to our shores to join the fellowship of our great Republic.

DANCING, 8:30 TO 12:00

A Guaranteed Contract! Jack McKeon Drills Bemco No. 1

Here's the combination that spells PROMPT SUC-CESS-Jack McKeon plus Bemco No. 1, plus that third big sand at Signal Hill.

Out in the northwest extension stands the blackened derrick of the Herwick 7—and 350 feet from that spot BEMCO No. 1 is pushing up its big 114-foot derrick ready for the trip to that same sand that has given its 4000-barrel fame to Signal Hill!

The rig is to stand complete early next week, ready for a big rotary manned by a McKeon crew—the drill sent on down by a proven veteran of Calif. deep drilling.

A guaranteed "turnkey" contract that specifies a straight "hole" and all casing successfully landed is YOUR safeguard when you put YOUR money with ours to WIN at Signal Hill. A heavy bond insures faithful performance before one single cent is paid on this contract.

You need look no farther for a chance to make your dreams of oil-riches come true. Here are California's biggest oil field, a famous and successful driller, and acreage that I believe no other spot in the field can do any more than possibly equal for big production. What more would you ask?

The time is very short — just ELEVEN DAYS until these BEMCO No. 1 units will be definitely OFF THE MARKET. Slip the coupon into the mail for airplane photo and information.

All Offices Open Until 9:00 P. M.

PACIFIC AVE. METHODIST
H. C. Mullen, Minister
The minister will speak at 11 o'clock on a matter of great concern to all Christians. At 7:30 the subject will be, "The Devil and Us." The Methodist Episcopal Church, showing such additional strength, and partner should bid his own cards only; third, partner of the original bidder is expected to hold at least three tricks in support of the original bid.

The conclusion is obvious that the partner of the original bidder is justified in raising the bid only if he holds the probability of at least four tricks with his partner's suit as trump, that is, one more trick than the so-called average expectation. Thereason for this, of course, is the should bid two Hearts. This point will be covered more in detail under days from 12 to 5 o'clock. The should bid two Hearts. This point will be covered more in detail under will be covered more in detail under will be covered more in detail under the supporting value of a hand is approximately double its quick trick values. That is, two quick tricks are worth four tricks as an integral part of partner's original bid. When the original bid is made by third hand, it shows at least five tricks in bidder's hand. As a bid of two in a suit is a bid to take eight tricks, the partner of a third hand original bidder may assist or support his partner's bid with only the average expectancy of three tricks.

An original bid by fourth hand shows the probability of at least six tricks, so that it should follow that his partner. When the original bid is made by third

PASSENGER WILLYS-KNIGHT SEDAN

THANKSGIVING

By Margaret Hamilton, Age 11 Yrs. Grade B-7-1; Wilson Ave. School One cold, bleak day in 1620 a small band of pilgrims arrived on the wild New England shores. It was certainly a poor, disappointed looking band, too. The ship was anchored about a mile from shore, and the men waded to land.

Of course, the Pilgrims did not know of the Indians when they first landed, because these red men hid in the underbrush, until they decided that the Pilgrims were triendly. Then the Indians sent a chosen man with a sign of peace. Everything went all right at first until the indians decided they did not like the "white men." We shall en his Willys-Knight one hundred and eighty three thousand miles for they had no time to make beautiful homes right away. The ship that the people had come in had been sent back to England now for more supplies, so the Pil- sale of the Willys-Knight as they grims had to plant gardens also, The Indians had about decided by now that the "white men" were not doing them much good, and that they were really trying to take their country away from them. And so, of course, the result was war. The food supply of the Pilgrims was getting very low, and the ship that had been sent back to England had not returned, so the people were very worried. During the first part of the first winter in America, many people then has been developing very rapdied of cold and hunger. One day idly. a boy and girl went up on a hill for Morning worship, 11 o'clock. Ser- ing). All of a sudden the girl gave Christian Endeavor, 6:30, at 400 and as they watched they saw it was their own ship. At last the supplies had come. This day was turned into a great feasting. The

Mr. Hock has now under construction beautiful home on North Central avenue and has purchased the Willys-Knight in order to have an automobile commensurate with the new residence.

Impartially, Mr. Hock considered all automobiles on the market without price consideration and his selection of the Willys-Knight was due to the wonderful recommendations given by his friends who drive them. One resident of dale brought very forcibly to his attention the fact that he has drivand eighty three thousand miles see later what happened then.

Meanwhile the Pilgrims were bractically nil. This man is the busy building homes, or really huts, owner of three Willy-Knights at the present time—a roadster, a

ALICE CALHOUN IS DAINTY, BUT REAL FIGHTER

In one of the big scenes of "Little Wildcat," which will be shown at the Glendale theatre this afternoon and until December 13, Alice Calhoun, the plucky little star, sprained her back in a flight.

All through this picture the hero-ine is having conflicts with someone. In the earler scenes she is a derelict living in the underworld and spends much of her time fighting with those around her. In one of the fight scenes she threw the lower vertebrae, which is not a serious accident, but very painful.

"It seems in this picture that I'm sparring for champion and I'll say to Jack Dempsey—Beware!" warned Alice Calhoun continuing, "But I'd much rather fight a man than a woman for a woman always tears your hair, scratches, pulls your clothes and spats, while a man always hits. You have a better chance with a man. At any rate, my director seems pleased with the day's work, so I suppose a sprained back is of little consequence

For the next few days Alice was found in the evening at an osteo-path and the next morning she would be seen there for another treatment.

WOODS IS ON INCREASE

Wonderful Growth Has Been Experienced in Past Few Years

There has been a general turning toward the use of hardwood on the Pacific coast during the past ten

Prior to that time a little hard-wood was used for interior finish in business buildings and residences, and some in repairs to wagons, agricultural implements, etc., but very little was done here in the manufacturing lines.

In the great majority of residences fir, or Oregon pine, as it is commonly called, was used for in-terior finish, and in fact this condition prevails up to the present

Some cheap furniture, such as kitchen tables and cabinets, and bedroom furniture, was being made here from white pine and spruce, but no hardwoods were used in the manufacture of furniture, or at least their use for that purpose was negligible.

Commencing with 1907, however, a great impetus was given the use of hardwoods by the importation of Japanese oak, which then sold at a much lower price than the native product.

Furniture manufacturers found this wood particularly adaptable for their requirements, and its low price enabled them to meet the competition of the old established furniture factories in the east.
Oak is the universal hardwood.

It is used extensively for furni-ture manufacturing, flooring, inte-rior finish in buildings, cooperage, vehicles and agricultural imple ments, shipbuilding and street and railroad car construction.

Oak grows in all the states east of the Mississippi river, in Eastern Nebraska and Kansas and south through Missouri, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Louisiana and Eastern

The Lake Arrowhead toll road, a new all year highway, by way of Cajon pass and Hesperia to Lake Arrowhead, has been completed. This announcement was made by Andrew Warmington of the Lake Arrowhead syndicate.

"This road," said Mr. Warmington, "is of vital importance to the lovers of the outdoors of Southern California, for it will open to the California, for it will open to the California motorists the year round the great recreational center which we have inaugurated in Arrowhead woods. With the completion of the Lake Arrowhead toll road it will be possible for motorists to drive at any season of the year right to the north shore of Lake Arrowhead.

THOUSANDS ARE ON THEIR WAY TO

Movements of tourists and home seekers to Southern California has started in earlier this year than usual, according to local railroad officials, taxing their facilities to the limit.

"We are receiving reports from our representatives in the east and north," said Mr. Brown, "and without exception they all report that the outlook for traffic to Southern California this year is better than t has ever been." For the first half of November it is stated by James Duffy, general passenger agent of the Santa Fe, their incoming passenger traffic was 25 per cent greater than during the same period last year.

RENT PAYING, A DISEASE-CONTRACTED | EAGLE GLEN TRACT| BECAUSE IT IS THE EASIEST WAY-

In These Days of Prosperity Every Man Owes It to His Family to Buy a Home—It's a Step Toward Independence—a Long Way Toward Security

Rent paying is a disease. It's a rut into which the insuspecting individual falls. After he has been there for a given length of time the very act of paying rent becomes a habit.

It takes an awful jolt to jar the rent-payer from the rent-paying rut. The disease has such a firm hold on him that he finally believes that to step from the rut would mean financial and every other kind of ruin.

The fellow who occupies a home that is not entirely. his own must pay rent. Let the rent-payer remember that. Rent simply must be provided if the home is to

Why pay ALL of that money to the landlord? Why should not the rent-payer put 50 per cent or more of that rent money to his own credit.

Almost anyone can, by strict economy, save enough for the initial payment on a home. The rest is easy. In fact, in many instances, it is easier than paying rent, for homes can very often be bought for less payment per month than they can be rented for. After the initial payment, it is just a question of meeting the payment, which corresponds to the usual rent. As the payments continue the principal grows and the interest decreases. Finally, the home is completely owned by the buyer who thought, while he was in the rent-paying class, that it was impossible for him to ever buy a home.

The home owner knows a feeling of security that can never be experienced by the rent-payer. The home is his. He cannot be turned out into the street. If adversity comes he always has something on which he can borrow enough money to tide him over the "rainy day."

He can improve his homeplace as he wishes, knowing that everything he puts on the property makes his holdings just that much more valuable. As a rule, a hundred dollars spent in flowers, trees and lawns, enhances the value of any property four or five times that amount. The home owner gets the benefit of this. If you are still paying rent, stop and think. Are you satisfied to go on that way forever? Now is the time to make the jump. If you have the price of a lot, buy one and build your home. If you have not, buy one that is ready built. It's the short cut to independence.

Mr. Fee asserts that after a trip throughout the east he is convinced that this will be a greater tourist season than ever before. He thinks that most of the tourists will undoubtedly visit Los Angeles.

Women like pretty clothes, because—well, they like pretty clothes.

Give some men a fair start and they will take an unfair advantage.

en to the improvement work at Eagle Glen Heights, the J. Harvey McCarthy foothill subdivision at the east end of Broadway, and everything will be completely finished probably by the end of the month, according to the local manager, H. V. Henry. The completion of the development process, which has transformed a rough, which has transformed a rough, wooded hillside into a home area of unusual attraction synchronizes with the disposition of the re-maining building sites. only a few of which are unsold.

Eagle Glen Heights is looked ipon by Mr. McCarthy as a modest-sized yet brilliant gem among the many subdivision which he has placed on the market in his twenty years of experience in Southern California. The beauty of its scenc environment, situated as it is on the gentle slope of the San Rafael hills, afforded the landscape architect an unusual opportunity to develop an attractive foothill subdivision, and sparing no ex-pense, Mr. McCarthy gave a free hand with the most gratifying results, Mr. Henry says. One of the results that has come rather unexpectedly from the lib-eral policy which was adopted at Eagle Glen Heights, has been that an even better class of residences are being built on the subdivision than was looked for. While the building restrictions imposed were sufficiently high to insure the establishment of an essentially high class type of home, it has been found that purchasers of sites have built or are planning to build residences that will cost considerably more than the amount of the restriction placed on the lots.

In seeking for a cause for this somewhat unusual condition, Mr. Henry says that it has been found that the trend of the demand for sites for the better class of homes is decidedly towards the eastern portion of Glendale. The result has been that purchasers at Eagle Glen Heights are almost exclusivey people of standing in Glendale, whose principal object is to estabmaintain its select character for many years to come.

Another moving reason is found in the proximity of this subdivision to the new $600,000 high school and to the Broadway grammar school. Among purchasers of lots at Eagle Glen Heights are very froth; add cream of tartar; fold many families having children of sugar in lightly; fold in flour which has been sifted four times with bakwhich their children mush attend.

THREE REMARKABLE WEN

Guests at one banquet recently were Herbert Hoover, E. A. Speery of the navy, and Charles M. Schwab. The three, in pursuit of their several lines of duty, are in southern California. It is not often that in a gathering of private citizens there are to be found a trio equally distinguished. The incident recalls the current attempts to name the three greatest men of all history. Of course this has not been done authoritatively, and never will be. There is no thought of elevating the three visitors to so exalted of the world of matter and the things of the world a plane, and yet each is a man whose influence has been great in some field of endeavor, or whose achievements have conferred lasting benefits upon humanity. .

Of Hoover there hardly could be necessity to write in detail. His career, since circumstances and natural endowment made him into a world force, has been in the open. Never spectacular, it was from the first, of such importance, that it unfolded as a story before the peoples of the earth. He is destined to stand as one of the imposing figures of the history recently written, and even now being recorded.

Schwab is a brilliant example of the individual who does things. His work has been with material. As applied to him "Captain of Industry" is no idle title. He was started on the road to fortune by Carnegie, Dr. Frank Crane and soon was moving by his own impetus. That he that the real purpose of the universe of matter is has acquired wealth for himself is a minor considera- but to symbolize the realities of the spirit. tion. This mechanism operates in a way that to the absence of the speery are stated as a way that the shearest are specifically as the shear to the observer appears to be a continuous miracle. Whether this be true or not, the experiments It remains true in conditions that render the magnetic needle useless and misleading. The gyroscope is not to be explained to any but the trained scientific mind. It seems to defy gravitation, and it always is the perfection of balance. The man who first conceived its possibilities, and then proved them, is a genius.

VALUE OF A NOSE

Damages in the sum of $26,500 have been asked by a film actress by reason of certain indignities to which her pulchritudinous nose had been subjected. She affirms that the man with whom she was riding the spirit. Doubt, apprehension, premonitions, in an automobile essayed to turn a corner with the machine going at fifty miles an hour. Plaintiff ties of the moment was involuntary; also that impact with the pavement knocked her nose out of plumb, and divested it of the charm that had made it highly prized in the realm of picture production.

The value of a nose, considered merely as a feature of the human face, would be difficult to determine. Considered in relation to the income, the problem is made to appear more complex. Not every individual is satisfied with the member as bestowed by nature, or as marred by the thwackings of untoward circumstance. Noses point upwards, or they have humps, or their inclination is such that to heed the old advice "follow your nose" would necessitate walking in circles. Many are the devices for beautifying this outstanding member of the facial group. Any sort of even to the poorest type of nasal adornment. When a nose that has won the plaudits of movie crowds, answer: J. F. Even then she may fail to be satisfied. Her plaint falls on the ear of a sympathetic jailor. Leading her to the door he says "Goodby and God bless you!" Or such is the impression created on the public.

If the accused is a male, and can get just the desired type of women on the jury, he is nearly as safe, provided always that he has money enough to pay for the illustrious legal talent that is devoted habitually to making a mock of justice and a joke of statutory inhibitions concerning human slaughter.

At that, there is every reason to believe that the operations of the courts are as effective here as they are in Illinois; which fact constitutes ground for saying that the police there are over sanguine, and have started too early to count their chickens.

Two of the books that have most comforted the mind of thinkers disposed toward spirituality and yet reluctant to forsake reason have been Butler's "Analogy," and Henry Drum-mond's "Natural Law in the Spiritual World." Both of these have become classics for the same reason. They traced the form of things spiritual after the pattern of things material. And, for that matter, that is

A dark and forbidding place ahead of us

A shivery and disconcerting prospect.
We are unable to pierce the darkness and see the Thing as it is. So we speculate as to what it may be.

It is not an agreeable thing. For it gives us a creepy feeling. Just as the presence of unknown and magined things in the dark. The dark is rather creepy anyway. As the boys will tell you.

And when we listen we seem to hear the swish and rattle of leaves. A forbidding place in which there may be savage beasts.

Or it may be a swamp. Oozy and slimy ano sticky. Alive with repulsive reptiles. Muddy and green. And to traverse that is no easy thing. And by no means pleasant.

So our imaginings continue. And we go forward upon the road. Full of fear and forebodings. Knowing that we have to come against the dismal and dark place.

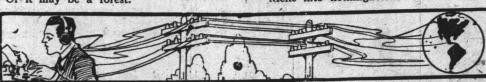

And wondering what we shall find.

And how we shall meet whatever trial or danger there is.

Then at last we come nearer. It is not a mountain. We are very sure of that. Nor is it a chasm. We are near enough to know that. And then we see it is not a forest or

COMMENT ON DAY'S NEWS

By HENRY JAMES

In relation to the recent escape of a notorious prisoner from the county jail, every dy, at this writing, has a right to an opinion. course the opinion may be wrong, and apology become due later. The opinion sought to be expressed in these few lines, is that Clara Phillips never filed any bars, never had occasion to vanish through a lofty window. The opinion goes so far as to include the belief that this tigerish desperado, who merited hanging if ever such treatment has been merited in all the history of crime, walked out of the door with the knowledge and connivance of jail attaches; probably to a waiting automobile, and then to safety across the border. Should this opinion prove to be based on facts, it would be just and proper for the accomplices each

And, finally, that the vanished prisoner by the act of going, confesses her guilt, and her fear that a second trial would send her where she belongs, namely, the gallows. While she was not entitled to a second trial, application had been made for it, and no layman knows but it might have been granted. That was too great a risk, great enough to account for flight.

Nothing could be more peculiar than the sudden shift that has given he Turks a world importance to which they are not entitled. Then I do it with both legs. By the time I have reached a stage of physical exhaustion, so that the dilapidated underpinning feels like lead, that early morning grouch has disappeared.

There Are a Hundred Little Timesavers and Labor Eliminators That May Be Built in the Kitchen; Here Are a Few, But There Are Others

One of the most difficult rooms of the home to plan is the kitchen, but it is in the arranging of this room that the prospective builder, especially the housewife, will derive the most pleasure. There are so many little time and labor saving features that can be built into the kitchen. A big percentage of the time of the ordinary housewife is spent in the kitchen and for this reason much time and careful study should be given to the planning of this part of the dwelling.

RUN MOTOR WHILE FILLING
It is a good plan to start the engine when filling the radiator of a car using a pump system. In some cases there are places which fill with air, which can be dislodged only by running the engine. The system may seem full, but after the engine has started the level will be found too low. Running the engine what has been accomplished by the do away with this trouble.

The Lake Arrowhead toll road is open! On Saturday December 2, the dedicatorial exercises for the opening of one of the most scenic mountain roads in California were finished. The first uninterrupted trip from Los Angeles to Lake Arrowhead by this new winter road, which goes to Lake Arrowhead in Arrowhead woods via the Cajon pass, Hesperia and the Lake Arrowhead toll road to the heart

A very interesting ceremony marked the official opening of this new road. Supervisor M. P. Cheney of Colton, nailed fast the last plank of the bridge with a huge silver spike, while Charles Owens, an artist of international fame, the driving of this spike by painting a large arrowhead around the spot, a sort of trade mark, as it were, designating that the Lake Arrowhead company were sponsors for the scenic paradise at the end

UNGLE SAMMIE BUILDING AIR

Uncle Sam is busy at this time establishing an elaborate airplane field at the corner of National Boulevard and Pico, which, when completed, will house the 478th Pursuit squadron.

Two giant hangars are now un der construction at the new field, which will eventually be the headquarters for 300 reserve fliers in the bombing, observation and pursuit divisions. According to Lieut. H. A. White, flight commander of the field, ten government planes are already consigned to the field, including the Curtiss and the fast Thomas Morse scout planes. The above information was unearthed last week by Dewey Rickenbacker, one of the star salesmen for the Leon T. Shettler company and brother of America's Ace of on Pico Boulevard and trying new tricks with his two-flywheel Rick-enbacker six when he found the

SPEED LAW IS GIVEN

BY ALLEN DAVIS bile Club of Southern California

Practically all motorists believe that the speed limit in this state open country territory. This is one of the several erroneous ideas as to speed limit that lead the motorist into difficulty with the traffic officer and police judge. Outside of business and residence districts, the maximum speed limit on public highways in this state at night time is thirty miles per hour always and without exception. In the day time the maximum speed limit is also thirty miles per hour, subject to certain exceptions. As is quite common in the law, it is the exception that gives the most trouble, and this is true in the present instance. Under the exception it is lawful to travel over thirty, but not to exceed thirtyfive miles per hour un-der the following conditions: On an open country highway where there are no intersecting highways on either side, the motorist may travel up to thirty-five miles per hour if he has a clear view ahead for a distance of four hundred feet and there is no per son, vehicle or other object visible within the four hundred feet ahead. The reader can figure this out for himself. If one automobile is traveling at thirty miles per hour, it is unlawful for a second automo bile to overtake and pass the first automobile. It would be a viola-tion of the State Motor Vehicle

Another point to remember is that it is unlawful to approach or cross an intersecting highway even in open country territory at a rate of speed in excess of thirty miles per hour unless the driver, during the last four hundred feet before enbacker six when he found the new field. Curiosity and a burning desire to let the whole world know about his brother's prize creation resulted in finding Lieut. White.

Incidentally White learned a lot of things about the Rickenbacker car that Dewey says every one ought to know, and Dewey learned more than a lot about the government's latest undertaking in Southern California.

Because of war losses and high taxation, some members of the nobility in England hire out their automobiles as a means of increasing their income.

Preaching the crossing has a clear view ahead for a distance of four hundred feet in each direction along the intersecting highway and there is no person, vehicle or other object, wisble within any of these distances either on the highway that the motorist is traveling or on the intersecting highway and there is no person, vehicle or other object, wisble within any of these distances either on the highway that the motorist is traveling or on the intersecting highway and there is no person, vehicle or other object, wisble within any of these distances either on the highway that the motorist is traveling or on the intersecting highway.

After contemplating these reaching the crossing has a clear view ahead for a distance of four hundred feet in each direction along the intersecting highway and there is no person, vehicle or other object, wisble within any of these distances either on the highway that the motorist is traveling or on the intersecting highway.

After contemplating these restances either on the highway that the motorist is very seldom that a motorist will meet conditions that will entitle him to travel thirty-five miles per hour, especially in the vicinity of a large city. The Thrill That Comes Once In a Lifetime

Every man remembers a few things with a thrill that not even years and much trouble can entirely erase—his first long pants, his wedding day, the first baby and the first time he sat behind the wheel of his own automobile,

Even though you do not own an automobile and have no immediate intention of buying one, you are cordially invited to come here and learn about cars. Enjoy the anticipation of possessing one; sit behind the wheel; see how easy it is to drive and control the new Maxwell.

When the day comes—and it will come—that you go forth to pick out your first car, you can do a better job because of what you will learn

Don't get the idea that an automobile salesroom is a chilly place for all except those who come in to buy. It's always a pleasure to everybody in this organization to talk to and show our cars to people who are not yet ready to buy.

Of course, prospective buyers are always wel-come, but so are the "lookers." Come in often and "post up" on automotive things.

Duck and quaft shooting has Duck and quait shooting has been better the first two weeks of this season than in several years this season than in several years but the fair mild weather for the past three weeks has held the ducks from migrating. The rice fields north of Sacramento are infested by millions of ducks and geese, but this territory is so large however that it is almost impossible to get a good shoot as the birds have no regular flights and scatter over miles of territory. On days when a heavy north wind days when a heavy north wind blows, good bags of both ducks and geese are easily obtained but unless you strike one of these windy days your bag is liable to be small. The ducks at our local lakes and marshes have become gun-shy and wise from being continually shot at and as a result small bags are about all you can expect.

Quail shooting is getting to be hard work as the birds have been unmercifully hammered and as a result have beat it to the tall brush and steep hills. Quail shooting is about over for this season, unless you get some kind farmer to turn you loose on some of his protected

Duck shooting will improve after a general rain storm followed by a heavy northwester. The best duck shooting during the past week was had in the Imperial valley, Morena reservoir, Cuyamaca lake and Baldwin lake. Quall shooters may get fair shooting at Bonsall, Oak Crove, Sees Banning, Pale Verde Grove, Sage, Banning, Palo Verde and Coachella valleys. GABOURY'S ATELIER DES ARTS

Last night you said you loved me, Dear, and Oh, What joy it gave me you will never know. I could not eat my supper and I went Behind the barn and thought of how I'd spent So many years in foolishness and swore That what had been would never be no more. And when the pigs and cows had all been fed And nearly all the world had gone to bed could not sleep but stayed awake unless I'd lose a minute of my happiness.

LOVE THE MIRACLE WORKER

And I forgave Bill Pearson all the sin He's done to me, and little Henry Finn For telling Teacher on me when I wrote A joke about her sweetheart in a note. And Gummy Wudgeon for the time he broke My fishpole and Joe Grumby for the joke He played on me when he wrote Nelly Brown And signed my name and said I would be down At the dead tree at five o'clock and she Caught near her death of cold waiting for me.

And when I could not think of any more I could forgive I fixed the cellar door And raked the yard and piled the wood box high With kindling wood and when it's all done I Threw the corn husks I used to smoke away, I'm done with them forever and a day. And Oh this morning when I washed I took The soap and washed my neck so it would look As white as snow. It changes you all through When you know some one really cares for you.

Perhaps no trade character beng used in the west is better known nor has a more definite significance to every person who may see him pictured than "Saving Sam," of the Western Auto Supply Company. In the four years that 'Sam" has been representing the.

"Saving and Service" policy of the company he has become almost a national character in the attention he has attracted to himself and his company.

It was four years ago (on October 20,1918) that "Saving Sam" first appeared in an ad for the ompany. He was a slender, bashful little fellow with a mop of black hair, pictured as pointing to a black board on which this message was written, "Western Auto is the largest retail auto supply house in the west." Sam's message went over with the public and he was given each week a new

He has appeared in motor publications all up and down the Pacific Coast. he has been written up by special writers for some national magazines. The special merchandizing sections of some large newspapers have referred to "Sam" as a shining example of a successful trade character.

Each week Sam appears in large ads, of his company in more than 70 newspapers up and down the Pacific Coast and as far east as Denver and Phoenix. "Sam" also appears many times in thousands of catalogues but out by his company twice each year.

On the highways "Sam" appears on the large bulletin boards reminding motorists of his company stores as headquarters for motorists, and on hundreds of little roadside signs he tells drivers the mileage to the next "Western Auto" store and town.

In the stores "Sam" is used in paper marche posters, and forms very important part of every window display. In the office of the president of in Los Angeles, an oil painting of "Sam" occupies a place of honor. This painting is a gift to Mr. and Mrs. Pepperdine from R. Schuyler Van Rensselaer, the artist who originated and always draws "Sam's" pictures. When "Sam" was adopted by Mr.

and Mrs. Pepperdine in 1918 there were only five stores under the company banner. Now there are more than 60 of them, and they will total more than five million dollars worth of business during 1922. Perhaps that fact tells best of "Sam's" success.

ECHO MEETING

There will be an Echo Meeting from the Santa Barbara Young People's Convention at the Baptist Church Sunday evening at 6:30, story to tell his readers.
Since that time "Sam" has appeared in public so much that he has overcome his bashfulness and ta Barbara convention were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Keith, Rev. and Mrs. E. E. Ford. Misses Faith He has grown a mustache, he Tarling and Helen Cobb. and Stanhas taken on weight, he sticks his ley Walker and Ernest Grigg.

"Car maintenance is becoming a big consideration in the minds of car owners and prospective purchasers," says Lyman P. Clark, of the Glendale Motor Car Company, 124 West Colorado Street, Maxwell dealers.

"The rapid decline in the prices of many popular cars has helped bring maintenance ento the spotlight. A great many can now afford to buy a car and they are now thinking more about the price of maintenance than about the price of the car itself. "The cost of realntenance and the satisfaction of ownership will always depend upon the local dealer, for he is responsible for both and nobody else can assume that responsibility. The best place in town to get parts or service for any car should be from the dealer who sells the car. That it isn't always the case does not make the statement any less true. It's up to the local dealer to have more facilities for service and to render service more efficiently and economically than anybody else on enat particular car.

"And this is the reason why a lot of people are picking out dealers instead of cars when they go shopping for an automobile today."

Ways and means of furbishing up gown too familiar are always of interest to maids and matrons with social obligations to meet who have slender purses or who perhaps have a talent for making much of little and who delight in the doing. Richness of embroidery is the feature of the season's gowns and coats, but it is concentrated in great measure on the sleeves. This is woman's opportunity, since sleeves of contrasting color or material are quite the thing. The old sleeves can be removed and the ornamented substitutes can take their place. There is plenty of vaflaring arm covering that is almost an angel sleeve to the mode that gathers the fullness into a wrist band or that slashes it upward from the wrist to be caught together with bands far enough apart to reyeal the beauties of a shapely arm.

The average sentence for stealing a horse was ten years, and the average for stealing an automobile, worth several times the value of the horse, is three years.

Satan's Empire Falling

"millions now living will never die"—Judge Rutherford

SATAN'S wicked influence has long been felt in every part of the world. To-gether with his associate devils he incites people to hatred, strife, murder, and induces war and anarchy, wrecking homes and driving millions to insanity and suicide. Satan caused the fall of man, and established his

EMPIRE. His wicked influence has overreached the denominational churches, causing many clergymen to forsake God and unite with profiteers and politicians to control mankind. But the end is here and his empire is FALLING; and Christ, the rightful King, though invisible, is beginning to reign. Hence the distress of nations, of which Jesus spoke. These troubles will soon reach a climax and disappear, followed quickly by peace and prosperity, as Jesus assumes control.
